

Unit 1, pages 8 and 9, done off the book

WHAT CHANGED, AND WHY

This replaces the booklet of 15 September for pages 8 and 9. That one was built from the teacher's-book notes alone, before the Student's Book was on disk. Now that it is, three things were wrong with it and are fixed here.

One. Its Task 2 drilled the -ed against -ing contrast in a three-column grid. The book never sets that exercise. Page 8 exercise 2 is simply noun to adjective, and seven of the ten adjectives have no -ing form at all. The contrast survives here as a fast-finisher box on page 1, labelled as not being in the book.

Two. Its personality list had cheerful and gentle, which are not in exercise 4, and was missing arrogant and childish, which are. Page 3 now carries the book's ten exactly.

Three. It skipped exercise 3 entirely, the five expressions: in agony, on the edge of your seat, get under your skin, lost for words, with regret. Those are the highest-value items on the page for the exam and they are now Task 2.

Martina and Víctor. Unchanged from Tuesday. Víctor gets closed answer sets and written-out questions so he cannot dry up; if he stalls, ask a prepared question rather than waiting. Martina's work is the spelling traps on page 1 and the register box on page 2, not the speaking, which she finds easy.

Run order

TIME	BLOCK	WHAT YOU DO
16:30 3 min	Open	Ask each of them for one emotion noun from Tuesday and a true sentence with it. If Tuesday's Task 1 went well, this is all the revision it needs.
16:33 10 min	Task 1 page 1	Book open at page 8 for exercises 1 and 2 first, then this page as the production step. The three traps are embarrassed , desperate and sympathetic . Make them spell embarrassed out loud, letter by letter. Do not let them answer with the noun.
16:43 14 min	Task 2 and 2b page 2	The centre of the hour. Match first, four minutes. Then the five sentences, written, then read out. Push back on anything vague: on the edge of our seats needs a real film and a real reason. The register point about with regret is the bit that reappears in Writing Part 2, so say it explicitly.
16:57 13 min	Task 3 and 3b page 3	Plus, minus and B alone, five minutes. Sensitive is the B and it is the teaching point. Note that mature and childish are both on the list and are each other's opposite, which they will spot. The flat-share argument must reach an agreement out loud.
17:10 10 min	Task 4 part A page 4	Silent, eight minutes. Check by asking why , never what . Gaps 3, 8 and 12 are the new ones: a picture description, a changing situation, and a fixed arrangement. Those three are the book's uses that Tuesday's letter never tested.
17:20 8 min	Task 4 part B page 5, grid on page 4	Fold page 5. Martina takes Nora, Víctor takes Diego. If they did this on Tuesday, swap the cards over instead and race the clock.
17:28 2 min	Close	Set page 9 exercise 5 from the book, plus the five sentences with one lie.

IF YOU ARE BEHIND

Cut Task 3b and shorten part B. Do not cut Task 2. The five expressions are the only thing on these two pages that a B2 candidate cannot already say some version of, and they are in the Vocabulary reference on page 95, which means the end-of-unit test can ask for them.

Vocabulary, pages 8 and 95

Task 1, noun to adjective Student's Book p8 ex 1-2 · TB PDF p22

	NOUN	ADJECTIVE	WATCH FOR
1	joy	overjoyed	given as the example. Not "joyful" here.
2	confidence	confident	they write "confidence" in adjective slots all year
3	relief	relieved	relief, not relieve
4	amazement	amazed
5	despair	desperate	trap: does not look like its noun
6	guilt	guilty
7	embarrassment	embarrassed	trap: double r and double s. Spell it out loud.
8	anxiety	anxious	they reach for "nervous"
9	frustration	frustrated
10	sympathy	sympathetic	trap: ends in -ic, and it is not "sympathic"

Only amazed, frustrated and embarrassed have an -ing partner. That is the whole reason the -ed against -ing grid in the 15 September booklet had to borrow words from outside the unit. Fast finishers only.

Task 2, the five expressions Student's Book p8 ex 3 · TB key 1b 2e 3a 4c 5d

	EXPRESSION	KEY	MEANING, AND THE BOOK'S EXAMPLE
1	in agony	b	feeling a lot of pain. My tooth hurt so much, I was in agony.
2	on the edge of our seats	e	very excited. The film was so exciting that we were on the edge of our seats at the end.
3	get under your skin	a	make someone upset or irritated. Tom is annoying, but don't let him get under your skin.
4	lost for words	c	shocked and surprised. It was a really big surprise, I was lost for words.
5	with regret	d	feeling sadness. With regret, I cannot come to your party tonight. Formal.

All five are in the Vocabulary reference on page 95, so they are testable in the End of Unit Test. Number 4 is the one they will actually use; number 5 is the one that earns marks in Writing Part 2.

Task 3, personality Student's Book p8 ex 4 · TB key 1– 2– 3– 4+ 5+ 6– 7– 8B 9+ 10–

	ADJECTIVE	+ , - OR B	OPPOSITE
1	aggressive	–	calm, gentle
2	arrogant	–	modest, humble
3	bad-tempered	–	good-tempered, cheerful
4	loyal	+	disloyal
5	mature	+	childish, immature
6	mean	–	kind, generous
7	stubborn	–	no single word: open to reason, flexible
8	sensitive	B	insensitive
9	reliable	+	unreliable
10	childish	–	mature, grown-up

Sensitive is the only B, and the book's own sentence tells you why: Vincent is easily hurt, but he is good at recognising other people's feelings. Expect them to notice that 5 and 10 are each other's opposite and both on the list. Say yes, that is the book, and it is a free reminder of the pair.

Grammar, page 9

Task 4 part A, the letter, thirteen gaps

	ANSWER	WHICH OF THE BOOK'S USES
1	looks	present simple: a general truth
2	love	stative verb, so no continuous
3	are standing	present continuous: describing a picture
4	get	present simple: habit, and normally is the signal
5	are repairing	present continuous: temporary, all this month
6	am walking	present continuous: temporary, and not his habit
7	takes	present simple: a fact
8	is getting	present continuous: a changing situation, with the comparative
9	is staying	present continuous: temporary, until December
10	is always leaving	present continuous: an annoying habit. Not an error, the point of it.
11	leaves	present simple: a timetable, even though it is the future
12	are meeting	present continuous: a fixed arrangement for the future
13	want	stative verb

The three in bold are the uses the 15 September letter never reached. Gaps 11 and 12 next to each other are the pair worth ten minutes on their own: same Friday, same trip, one simple because it is a timetable, one continuous because it is an arrangement two people made. If they get that distinction, they are ahead of most B2 candidates.

Task 4 part B, model answers

	NORA	DIEGO
Lives	in Ruzafa, but she is staying in Gandia this month	in Benimaclet, shares with three others
Studies or works	studies architecture, works in a café on Saturdays	teaches swimming every morning
Doing this month or term	learning French	doing a sports nutrition course
Always doing it, and it is annoying	she is always losing her keys	he is always telling the same three stories
Already arranged	moving to Toulouse in January, flight leaves at 6.15	going to Shrewsbury in July

WHERE THIS CAME FROM

Student's Book pages 8 and 9, read directly from _source-books/NEW CLOSE UP B2 Split A y B/FCE Close-up New, Split A/Unit 1/, plus the Vocabulary reference on page 95 and the teacher's-book keys at PDF pages 22 and 23. Nothing on these five pages is inferred.