

Two decisions this run sheet makes for you, override live if needed. (1) Level Ladder results. The results deck (FCEI_LevelLadder_Results_22Sep2026_SLIDES.html) is built teacher-facing on purpose · its own framing is "not an exam, doesn't go on any report." With Isabella newest to the group and clearly behind on the diagnostic, this run sheet does NOT project the comparative grid to the three of them. Block 1 gives each student one private, growth-framed line instead. Show the full deck only if you decide otherwise. (2) Whether pp.8–9 already landed. JOURNAL.md flags Thu 17 Sep as unconfirmed: the Find-Someone-Who warmer plus the 30-minute Level Ladder may have used the whole hour, leaving the pp.8–9 material (info-gap grid, freer practice) untouched. Today treats the grammar as first proper teaching either way and uses only the short gap-fill from that booklet as controlled practice, saving the full info-gap grid for Thursday once it's rebuilt for three (see After class).

At a glance. Three students: Martina, Víctor, Isabella. Target language: present simple vs present continuous, incl. stative verbs (SB p9), reviewing feelings, expressions and personality vocabulary from pp.8–9. Every task today is either whole-group or three-way, per the brief's rule 3b, no pair is left without Isabella. Gap-fill source: ../Thu 17 Sep 2026/FCEI_Unit1_pp8-9_17Sep2026.html. Arcade unit: fce1-u01b (feelings, expressions, personality, grammar, already built).

Running order

Time	Block	What happens
16:20–16:28 8 min	1. Warm-up: Level Ladder, one line each	Private, individual, growth-framed feedback from the diagnostic. No comparative grid, no scores read aloud.
16:28–16:53 25 min	2. Grammar: present simple vs continuous	5-slide deck, then Exercise 1, p.9 as controlled check. Ties in the shared diagnostic mistake on stative verbs.
16:53–17:03 10 min	3. Controlled practice: the 13-verb gap-fill	From the Thu 17 booklet, done individually then checked as a three, not the full info-gap grid.
17:03–17:13 10 min	4. Somerset Arcade: Point Grab	Unit fce1 - u01b, free-for-all with three players, reviews today's grammar plus pp.8–9 vocabulary.
17:13–17:20 7 min	5. Wrap-up + homework	Set SB p.9 ex.5 plus any unfinished gap-fill items. Preview Thursday.

1. Warm-up: Level Ladder, one line each · 8 min

Materials: none for students. Teacher reference:

FCEI_LevelLadder_Results_22Sep2026_SLIDES.html (do not project).

As they sit down, give each student one private sentence rather than a number: Martina, all four grammar discriminators correct, tell her that's a genuinely clean B2 read and to keep trusting her ear. Víctor, strong raw score but the finer contrasts (modals, conditionals) are the actual growth edge this term, not vocabulary. Isabella, newest to the group and it shows in Units 2–5, but she matched the other two in Unit 6, tell her that's the target to build outward from, not a weakness to dwell on.

Then, as a bridge into Block 2, put two sentences on the board without naming who wrote them: all three answered item 1 with "the news worries everyone" instead of "is worrying", and all three answered item 8 with "are used to" instead of "would". Tell the group item 8 is Unit 2 grammar, they'll get it properly then, but item 1 is exactly today's lesson, and by the end of Block 2 they should be able to say why their answer was wrong.

2. Grammar: present simple vs present continuous · 25 min

Materials: FCEI_Unit1_Grammar_PresentSimpleContinuous_22Sep2026.html (5 slides, click through). Student's Book p.9, Exercise 1.

Slides (12 min). Habit-or-right-now contrast, present simple uses, present continuous uses, then the stative-verbs slide. On the stative-verbs slide, come back to item 1 from the warm-up: worry is usually stative (I worry about my exams), but it can take the continuous when it describes a temporary, changing situation rather than a general feeling, exactly the point the deck's "changing situations" use covers. Local version of the same pattern, for the mandatory Valencia reference: rising rents in Valencia are worrying young people in the city right now (continuous, a situation that's changing this year) versus Valencia has around 800,000 inhabitants (simple, a stable fact). Ask the group for one more real example each of a "changing situation" they've noticed in the city.

Exercise 1, p.9 (13 min). Thirteen verbs, present simple or continuous. Students complete individually in the book, check in a three (not pairs, per rule 3b, all three compare before anyone commits to an answer), then reveal with slide 5 of the deck, which carries the answer key on screen.

3. Controlled practice: the 13-verb gap-fill · 10 min

Materials: ../Thu 17 Sep 2026/FCEI_Unit1_pp8-9_17Sep2026.html, the rule box and gap-fill only (not the info-gap grid, not the freer-practice card).

If Thu 17 already covered this activity, use this block as a fast group check instead: call out answers, ask one student each time to justify simple vs continuous out loud, move on the moment all three agree. If it turns out Thu 17 did not reach this far, run it properly: individually, then check as a three.

Note: the full info-gap grid in that same file ("You know about Nora" / "You know about Diego") is still built for exactly two roles. Do not use it today with three students, see After class.

4. Somerset Arcade: Point Grab · 10 min

Materials: laptop + projector, somerset-arcade/index.html, class FCE I, unit fce1-u01b.

Three students is too few for teams without leaving someone idle most rounds. Play free-for-all: no Teams setup, each student answers for themselves, running score on screen. The question bank already covers today's grammar plus the feelings, expressions and personality vocabulary from pp.8–9, so this doubles as the check on whether that material actually needs revisiting.

5. Wrap-up + homework · 7 min

Set Student's Book p.9 Exercise 5 (the four gapped conversations) plus any gap-fill items not finished in class. Tell the group Thursday continues with a proper three-way speaking task built from the same page, and that Unit 2 (past simple/continuous, used to/would) starts once Unit 1 wraps, which is when item 8 from today's warm-up will make sense.

After class

Dictate a JOURNAL.md entry: whether Block 3 was new material or a review (settles the Thu 17 pp. 8–9 question for good), how the private Level Ladder feedback landed with each student, and whether Isabella needed anything adjusted. If Block 3 turns out to have been new for everyone, that's worth flagging against the course plan's Unit 1 window (Tue 8 Sep – Thu 22 Oct, already generous).

Still to build, not today's blocker: the pp.8–9 info-gap grid needs a genuine three-way redesign (or a rotating pair-plus-teacher slot) before Thursday 24 Sep, per the brief's rule 3b. Not needed for today's run.
