YEAR OPENER · HOW DO YOU FEEL ABOUT BEING YOU?

• Standard Friday

Jump for joy.

Emotions vocabulary · present simple vs continuous · Aitana's emotional range

Today's 120 minutes

■ Reading ■ Listening ■ Speaking ■ Grammar / UoE ■ Writing ■ Extras

1 Lead-in — Mood map

10 min · pairs

Pick the cell that best describes your week so far. Tell your partner why. Then swap.

exhausted	thrilled	anxious	content
frustrated	curious	overwhelmed	motivated
chilled	nostalgic	hopeful	drained

2 Reading — “Aitana, in four feelings”

15 min · solo + pair check FCE Reading Part 5 \(preview\)

Read the text. Underline every word that describes how someone feels.

Aitana Ocaña is one of Spain’s biggest pop stars, but she insists she is also “the most ordinary person in the world.” She is currently touring the world with Cuarto Azul, her fourth album, which came out in May 2025 and won Best Recording Package at the Latin Grammys.

What makes the album interesting isn’t the music — it’s the range of feelings on it. One song is restless and a little anxious. The next is calm, almost shy. A third is thrilled, full of energy. The closing ballad is exhausted and hopeful at the same time.

“I’m always working on something new,” Aitana told El País recently. “Right now I’m writing a song about feeling overwhelmed by being famous. I usually write at night because I think more clearly then. But honestly? Tonight I just want to sleep.”

— “I usually write at night because I think more clearly then. But honestly? Tonight I just want to sleep.”

For her fans in Valencia, the question is simple: which Aitana is performing when she comes to Roig Arena next spring — the thrilled one, the calm one, or the exhausted one? They’ll find out together.

3 Comprehension — choose the best answer

8 min · solo FCE Reading Part 5

Mirrors the real exam: a long text with multi-choice questions testing detail, opinion, and gist.

1. According to the text, Aitana describes herself as . . .
a) the loudest singer in Spain b) the most ordinary person in the world c) the next Rosalía
2. How many albums has Aitana released so far?
a) two b) three c) four
3. What does the album Cuarto Azul show, according to the writer?
a) only happy songs b) a wide range of feelings c) songs about Valencia
4. Why does Aitana usually write at night?
a) her fans demand it b) she thinks more clearly c) it's quieter in Madrid
5. Where will she perform in Valencia?
a) Mestalla b) Roig Arena c) Plaça de Bous

4 Vocabulary — match the feeling word to its meaning

8 min · pairs

Definitions are in a different order. Write the matching letter next to each word.

- | | |
|----------------|---|
| 1. restless | d) too much to handle right now |
| 2. vulnerable | a) full of energy and excitement |
| 3. ambitious | f) easily hurt; not protected emotionally |
| 4. overwhelmed | b) wanting to succeed; aiming high |
| 5. thrilled | h) unable to sit still or stop thinking |
| 6. drained | c) believing things will turn out well |
| 7. hopeful | g) completely without energy |
| 8. curious | e) wanting to know or learn more |

5 Grammar — present simple vs present continuous

12 min · solo + pair check

Present simple = things that are generally true, habits, states.

Present continuous = things happening now, or around now (this week, this month).

State verbs (love, hate, know, believe, want, need) are almost always simple, even now.

Aitana usually writes at night. vs. Aitana is writing a song about being famous.

Choose the correct form. (8 sentences)

1. I love / am loving this song.
2. Right now Aitana tours / is touring Latin America.
3. My friend thinks / is thinking Aitana is more interesting than Rosalía.
4. What do you do / are you doing this weekend?
5. Pedro doesn't know / isn't knowing the answer.
6. This week we study / are studying emotions in English class.
7. Look — that man on the bus cries / is crying!
8. I want / am wanting to go to the Roig Arena concert.

6 Speaking — paired interview

12 min · pairs (or trios) FCE Speaking Part 1

In FCE Speaking Part 1, the examiner asks you 4–5 personal questions for about 2 minutes. Today you'll practise being both candidate and examiner with your partner.

Format · take turns asking and answering

Sit opposite your partner. Take turns. Speak in full sentences — not one-word answers. Use present simple for habits AND present continuous for what's happening now.

1. How are you feeling about the new term so far?
2. What do you usually do on Friday evenings?
3. What are you working on outside of school this week?
4. Tell me about a song or a singer that describes how you feel right now.
5. Is there something you've never tried that you'd like to?

— . — . — B R E A K . 5 M I N . — . — . —

7 Listening — How to manage your emotions

15 min · whole class then solo FCE Listening Part 4

FCE Listening Part 4 is a 3–4 minute conversation or talk with 6 multi-choice questions, each with 3 options. Today: a 5-minute TED-Ed talk on how to identify, understand and manage emotions. You will hear it twice, just like in the real exam.

► TED-Ed: “How to manage your emotions”

Length: 5:09 · narrator + animated illustration · B2-level English

YouTube: youtube.com/watch?v=Uew5BbvmLks

TED-Ed: ed.ted.com/lessons/how-to-manage-your-emotions

Before you listen: read the questions silently (1 min). First listen: mark your best answers. Second listen: check, change, complete.

1. What is the speaker’s main point about emotions?
 - A They are signals that should always be acted on immediately.
 - B They are useful information that we can learn to interpret.
 - C They are obstacles that need to be overcome.
2. According to the speaker, the first step in managing an emotion is to . . .
 - A distract yourself from it.
 - B name what you are feeling.
 - C ask someone for advice.
3. The speaker uses the example of a low exam grade in order to . . .
 - A illustrate how thoughts and feelings interact.
 - B argue that exams are not a fair measure of ability.
 - C show that some emotions cannot be changed.
4. The speaker’s attitude towards suppressing emotions is . . .
 - A strongly opposed.
 - B generally supportive in moderation.
 - C neutral — it depends on the situation.
5. What does the speaker suggest about reframing a difficult feeling?
 - A It removes the feeling completely.
 - B It changes the meaning we give the feeling.
 - C It only works for very mild emotions.
6. The speaker concludes that emotional skills are . . .
 - A something we are born with and cannot improve.
 - B only useful in academic settings.
 - C a learnable skill that improves with practice.

8 Speaking — compare two photos

8 min · pairs FCE Speaking Part 2 \(preview\)

In FCE Speaking Part 2 you're shown two photos and asked to compare them for one minute, then your partner gives a 30-second response. Today is a gentle preview at half-length.

Student A · 60 seconds. Compare the two photos. Which person seems more like you, and why? Use vocabulary from today's reading: thrilled, restless, content, drained, curious, hopeful.

Student B · 30 seconds. Tell your partner: which moment have you enjoyed more recently — a busy social moment like Photo A, or a quiet one like Photo B? Why?

9 Short play — “Outside L’Oceanogràfic”

10 min · pairs

Read in pairs. One of you is Marta, the other is Lucía. Then swap roles.

Setting: Outside the entrance to L’Oceanogràfic, Valencia. A Friday afternoon in mid-September. The first weekend after school has started.

MARTA: Lucía! What are you doing here? I thought you were studying this weekend.

LUCÍA: I am — I mean, I’m supposed to be. But honestly, I’m feeling a bit overwhelmed. My brother brought me to see the dolphins.

MARTA: The dolphins fix everything. How’s the new term going?

LUCÍA: It’s OK. I love my English class — we’re reading about Aitana this week. But maths? I don’t even understand the homework.

MARTA: Same. Every September I think I’m going to be different. Then by Tuesday I’m exhausted again.

LUCÍA: Are you free tomorrow? I’m going to Malvarrosa with some friends.

MARTA: Tomorrow I’m visiting my grandmother in Albacete. But Sunday — yes!

LUCÍA: Good. Right now I just want a horchata. Want one?

MARTA: Always.

★ Now perform it! ★

10 Speaking 2 — “What are you up to?” info-gap

12 min · pairs OR trios (cards at back)

Your teacher will give you a card from the back of the booklet. Don't show your partner. You have a fictional life this week — tell your partner about it, ask about theirs. Use present simple for habits, present continuous for what's happening now.

Stages

1. 2 min planning. Read your card silently. Plan what you'll say.
2. 7 min interview. Find out about your partner. Take notes.
3. 3 min report. Tell the class one interesting thing about your partner's week.

5 min · solo Spaced practice

Phrasal verb of the week from class: cheer (someone) up = make someone feel happier.

Rewrite the second sentence so it means the same as the first, using the words in CAPITALS. Use 2–5 words.

1. My friend made me feel happier when I was sad. CHEERED

My friend _____ when I was sad.

2. Aitana started her music career in 2017. SINCE

Aitana _____ 2017.

3. I'm bored — let's do something fun! CHEER

Let's do something fun to _____.

T Thursday 24 Sept — Pre-class preview for F25 min · solo Spaced practice

Tomorrow's class will start with a short text on introverts, extroverts and ambiverts. Skim-read this paragraph, then answer the two priming questions.

Most psychologists agree that very few people are pure introverts or pure extroverts. Most of us are ambiverts — somewhere in the middle. We get energy from being with people and from spending time alone. The question isn't "which one are you?" but "which side wins on a tired Friday?"

Q1. Which group does the writer say most people belong to?

Q2. How do you usually feel after a busy social weekend — full of energy, or drained? Write one sentence.

STREAK COUNTERWednesday ☐Thursday ☐Sunday tasks start week of 27 Sept.
