Grammar spotlight · Every week, or this week?

From your Level Ladder, question 4: She usually cycles, but this week she ____ the metro.

4 of 5 of you chose takes. The answer is is taking. Usually tells us the habit. This week tells us something different and temporary.

Present simple · every week	Present continuous · this week habits and routines I play football on Saturdays.	happening right now Look, it's raining! facts and permanent situations The Mercado Central opens at 7:30.	temporary situations I'm studying to be a vet.
always · usually · often · never · every day · on Saturdays · at the weekend	now · right now · at the moment · today · this week · this month · these days

Watch out, stative verbs: these describe states, not actions, so no -ing, even "right now": like · love · hate · want · need · know · believe · understand · own · seem

I know the answer. ✓ I'm knowing the answer. ✗

C • Usually... but this week

Put the verbs in brackets in the present simple or the present continuous. Look for the signal words first and underline them.

- 1 Álvaro usually _____ (play) football on Saturdays, but this week he _____ (watch) Dragon Ball because it's raining.
- 2 Valeria always _____ (do) her homework first when she gets home.
- 3 Alejandra usually _____ (go) to the shopping centre after school, but this week she _____ (study) for a History exam.

E · About you, then tell your group

Write three sentences about yourself.

1. A habit: I usually ... _____
2. Something different this week: but this week I'm ... _____
3. A dream job with a stative verb: I want to be a ... because I love ... _____

Now speak. Tell your group your sentences. Listen and report one person:

My partner usually _____, but this week _____.

The interview at the Ciutat

A scene at the Ciudad de las Artes y las Ciencias. Five roles: Narrator, Interviewer, Marina, Bruno, Aitana.
Read it through once silently, then in role.

NARRATOR: It's nine o'clock on a Tuesday morning. Inside the Ciudad de las Artes y las Ciencias, a small office is getting ready for three job interviews. The job is English-speaking guide.

INTERVIEWER: Good morning. Please, sit down. So, Marina, what do you do at the moment?

MARINA: I work as a hairdresser in Ruzafa, but I want a change. I love talking to people, and I know a lot about science, I read about it every night.

INTERVIEWER: Interesting. Are you a confident person?

MARINA: Very. I'm never nervous in front of a group.

The interview at the Ciutat, continued.

NARRATOR: Bruno, the second candidate, walks in. He's carrying a large camera.

INTERVIEWER: Bruno, I see you're holding a camera. What's that for?

BRUNO: Sorry, I'm filming the planetarium this week for another project, I'm a camera operator there on Fridays. But I understand the exhibits really well, I explain them to my little cousins every visit.

INTERVIEWER: And what kind of person are you, Bruno?

BRUNO: Honestly, quite shy at first, but reliable. I never miss a shift.

NARRATOR: Finally, Aitana, the third candidate, sits down. She's smiling.

INTERVIEWER: Aitana, tell me about yourself.

AITANA: I'm an astronaut, well, not a real one! I work in the astronaut exhibit already, I demonstrate the space suits. I love this museum, and I believe I'm the right person for this job.

INTERVIEWER: What makes you a good guide?

AITANA: I'm patient with children, and I'm cheerful even on a long, tiring day.

NARRATOR: The interviewer looks at the three candidates and smiles.

INTERVIEWER: Thank you, all three of you. We're deciding by Friday. Good luck!
